

ATTACHMENT B

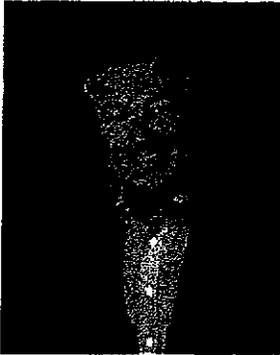

S. Douglas ("Doug") Hutcheson
President, Chief Executive Officer, Acting Chief Financial Officer and Director

Doug Hutcheson is responsible for overseeing the corporate and local business operations for the Company. A business strategist with more than 23 years of management experience, Mr. Hutcheson developed the initial concept and led the core team that pioneered Cricket, Leap's innovative, all-you-can-talk local wireless service.

Previously, Mr. Hutcheson established and led the marketing and international operations group in the Wireless Infrastructure division at QUALCOMM Incorporated. At QUALCOMM, in addition to directing the marketing efforts, he led multiple teams negotiating equipment sales, financing arrangements and joint ventures throughout the world. His work also included developing market research, proposals, pricing, and contract development policies. Prior to QUALCOMM, Mr. Hutcheson was with Solar Turbines, Inc. from 1982 to 1991. While there, Mr. Hutcheson held various positions including General Manager, Technical Service Manager, and Regional Customer Service and Operations Manager.

Mr. Hutcheson holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering from California State Polytechnic University, San Luis Obispo and an M.B.A. from the University of California, Irvine, where he graduated Beta Gamma Sigma.

LEAP[®]

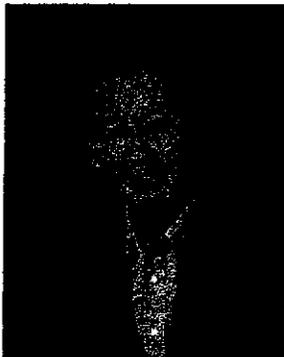

Albin "AJ" Moschner
Executive Vice President and Chief Marketing Officer

Albin (AJ) Moschner is responsible for overseeing the Company's overall marketing and branding of products and services, along with product development, customer retention and market research. He is also responsible for overseeing and directing the Company's business operations, including sales and distribution and customer service.

Before joining the Company, Mr. Moschner was President of Verizon Card Services. Prior to joining Verizon, Mr. Moschner was President and Chief Executive Officer of OnePoint Services, Inc. a telecommunications company that he founded and that was acquired by Verizon in December 2000. Mr. Moschner was also a principal and the Vice Chairman of Diba, Inc., a development stage internet software company ultimately bought by Sun Micro Systems in 1997. Mr. Moschner served as Senior Vice President of Operations, a member of the Board of Directors and ultimately President and CEO of Zenith Electronics from October 1991 to July 1996. He holds a M.S. in electrical engineering from Syracuse University and a B.E. in electrical engineering from the City College of New York.

LEAP[®]

Glenn Umetsu
Executive Vice President and Chief Technical Officer

With more than thirty years of experience in the telecommunications industry, Glenn Umetsu is responsible for overseeing the Company's engineering, technical operations, information technology, capital budget management and technology development departments as well as the build out of new Cricket® markets.

Prior to joining Cricket, Mr. Umetsu was Vice President of Engineering for Cellular One in the San Francisco Bay Area. In this capacity, he was responsible for engineering and switch and cell site operations for this joint venture of AT&T Wireless and Air Touch. Before Cellular One, Mr. Umetsu held various managerial positions for McCaw Communications and AT&T Wireless Services, including Vice President, Technical Coordination for the Los Angeles and Houston regions and Vice President, Engineering, California, Nevada and Hawaii Region. He also served as Executive Vice President – Operations with RAM Mobile Data, and numerous managerial positions with PacTel Cellular, AT&T Advanced Mobile Phone Service, Northwestern Bell, and the US Air Force Communications Service. Mr. Umetsu is a graduate of Brown University, where he received his B.A. in mathematics and economics.

Robert Irving, Jr.
Senior Vice President and General Counsel

Rob Irving is responsible for the supervision of all of Leap's legal affairs.

Prior to joining Leap, Mr. Irving was an attorney for Rohr, Inc., an aerospace corporation. Previously, he was vice president, general counsel and secretary for IRT Corporation, a company that designed and manufactured x-ray inspection equipment. Before joining IRT, Mr. Irving was an attorney at Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher. Mr. Irving was admitted to the California Bar Association in 1982. Mr. Irving received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Stanford University. Following Stanford, he received his Masters of Public Policy from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government and his Juris Doctor from Harvard Law School, where he graduated cum laude.

LEAP[®]

David Davis

Senior Vice President, Operations and Launch

As Senior Vice President of Operations and Launch for Cricket Communications, Inc., David Davis is responsible for the overall management of Cricket's day-to-day operations.

Prior to joining Cricket, Mr. Davis spent six years with Cellular One, CMT Kansas/Missouri in various management positions, culminating in his role as Vice President and General Manager. In this capacity, Mr. Davis was responsible for $140 million in revenue, 2.4 million POPs (potential customers) and nearly 400 employees. Prior to Cellular One, Mr. Davis served in various roles for McCaw Communications. Mr. Davis received his B.S. from the University of Central Arkansas.