Resume of Jeff Nottingham, M.A., CEM, CEP

With more than two decades of energy experience I have done heavy lifting in most areas of the business. My experience covers the gamut from large team leadership to negotiating large electricity supply contracts to wellhead nominations for natural gas. Today I provide consulting and brokering services to industrial and commercial companies in electricity and natural gas supply and energy price risk management. I also perform some specialized econometric studies for industry colleagues, and occasionally enjoy speaking to various groups about competitive energy markets in the United States.

Major Accounts Director

Power Brokers, LP

August 2008 – August 2010 (2 years 1 month)

Team leadership, product development, sales operations leadership and market development for one of the largest energy consultancy firms in the United States.

Director - Major Accounts – ERCOT

Direct Energy / Strategic Energy (acquired by D.E.)

November 2006 – September 2008 (1 year 11 months)

Focused primarily on building Strategic Energy's market share among large C&I accounts in the North Texas market. Also supporting client energy requirements in other geographies, including CA, IL, MA, MD, NY and other competitive states.

President

Cirro Energy Services

November 2004 – October 2006 (2 years)

Created the concept and built this energy consultancy during the first two years of its existence. Created several unique products in the Texas (ERCOT) market for both energy procurement (both electric and natgas) and load management, including 4CP Warnings, Turnkey LaaR enrollment and turnkey TXU-ELM enrollment.

Director, Energy Marketing

Reliant Energy Solutions

December 1999 – October 2004 (4 years 11 months)

Lead two major account sales teams in ERCOT. First team was the key accounts (3000 kW+) for north Texas, second was the mid C&I (500kW - 3000 kW) in north, south and west Texas. The former was built from a starting position of 0MW to over 3000 MW of contracted load, and the latter was taken from an underperforming team losing five of every six deals to winning more than half of the deals we pursued. Left to accept an executive leadership role at a well-backed startup consultancy.

Manager, Pricing Products

Central and South West Corporation

November 1991 – November 1999 (8 years 1 month)

Led in the development of innovative regulated rates including real-time pricing and market-based time-of-use rates. Participated in 6-month product development and rate filing phase, then delivered training to sales organization in a series of presentations in TX, OK & LA. Delivered seminars to customers over a 2-year period, tracked product enrollment and performance, developed economic models to compare rate options and presented key findings at EPRI conferences.

Forward Observer

82nd Airborne Division, U.S. Army

1985-1988

Served as liaison with forward infantry units, calling for artillery fire and ordinance selection. Earned Army Commendation Medal, Expert Marksman Badge, received specialized training in NBC (nuclear, biological, chemical) warfare.
