Science show for kids on Tuesday, July 10

Children of all ages are invited to "Science is So Delicious" at the Y Hangar on July 10, 2pm. The free program of wacky science experiments will include cool chemical reactions, indoor thunderstorms, and maybe a visit from Dr. Frankenpickle. Mad Science of St. Louis will present the show, which is sponsored by Paris Public Library and Paris Community YMCA. No registration is required for the 45-minute show. Parents, grandparents, and caregivers are welcome to accompany children. Mad Science of St. Louis specializes in sparking imaginative learning through educational entertainment. In addition to their programs, they offer an email newsletter for parents and teachers of science experiments for home or classroom. For more information, call Paris Public Library at 463-3950.

Marshall City Band to perform on Friday

The Marshall City Band, under the direction of Ralph Stewart, will perform a concert this Friday evening on the Clark County Courthouse lawn at 8 p.m. Included in the concert are "Under the Double Eagle", a selection of "Rodgers and Hart songs", we're picking up the beat with the jazz Fox-Trot "Tiger Rag", "Tower of the Americas", and "Kentucky Babe". The concert will continue with "Hostraiser's March", "Amazing Grace", selections from "The Phantom of the Opera", "Slidin' Easy", "Suspiros De Espana", "Sounds Of The Carpenters", a medley of "We've Only Just Begun", "For All We Know", and "Rainy Days and Mondays", "The Roaring Twenties", and close with the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner". The Marshall Music Boosters will be hosting refreshments during the band concert this Friday evening. All concerts are free and open to the public, so bring your lawn chairs and enjoy a summer evening of music.

The steps you take today determine where you are tomorrow. Let's take the next step together.

fraternity committed to providing care to children and families in need. This year, the ICA and the five Illinois chapters of Shriners International, including the Ansar Shriners of southern Illinois, are working hard to create an event that brings together players, families, coaches, children, and the community.

During the week, players will have the opportunity to connect with the cause on a more personal level. Strohm will visit the hospital's Chicago location, meeting patients and hearing their stories. Game week also includes a formal banquet for the players and their families, a BBQ with the Shriners and a parade in the community before game kickoff.

Shriners Hospitals for Children, the official philanthropy of Shriners International, is a pediatric health care system providing specialty care in a family-centered environment regardless of the patients' ability to pay. The hospitals serving Illinois are in Chicago and St. Louis.

Blame Ingrown

Hairs for Shaving Bumps
DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a black woman writing on behalf of my boyfriend. He has a crop of little bumps on his face. I asked him if they are pimples, and he laughed. He said they're shaving bumps. How does he get rid of them?
-- R.C.

ANSWER: Men of any race can develop shaving bumps. Black men's hair is more tightly coiled, and they, therefore, are quite susceptible to them. If a man cuts his facial hair too closely to the skin, it can spring back toward the

RARE MAY

For the first time in seven years, no deaths were recorded in May as the result of tornadoes. In May of 2011, at least 178 people were killed because of tornadoes, according to statistics from NOAA's Severe Storms Laboratory in Oklahoma. There were 122 tornadoes this past May, compared to 326 in May 2011. It would be correct to say this past May was a rare month when it comes to the number of both tornadoes and tornado deaths. That doesn't mean the rest of the warm season will be peaceful, but May brought a pleasant surprise this year.

skin and penetrate it. Tightly coiled hair is especially prone to this. The sharp end of the hair pushing back into the skin acts like a foreign body. It irritates the skin and inflames it. A little bump forms.

It must be a chore for your boyfriend to shave. To get rid of the bumps, he has to stop shaving until they go away. He also has to dislodge all the hairs that have penetrated the skin. He can do this by taking a clean needle and slipping it under the loop that the hair makes. Then he pops the end of the hair out of the skin. When he frees all the ingrown hairs and stops shaving, his skin will clear.

To prevent new bumps when he resumes shaving, he has to adopt a different shaving style. He must soften his beard with soap and warm water before using a razor. He will do himself a favor by buying an electric razor and putting it on a setting that doesn't shave the beard too closely. With either a blade or an electric shaver, he should shave in the direction of hair growth, and he shouldn't pull his skin taut.

If he goes through all this and doesn't meet with success, he'll have to see a doctor. In fact, if his shaving bumps are crusted with dried pus, he should start out by seeing a doctor. The pus indicates infection, and he'll need an antibiotic cream to get rid of any infection.

If your boyfriend is squeamish about freeing the ingrown hairs with a needle, you can do the job for him. You're the one who set all this in motion.
