DANIEL S. LEVY

ECONOMIST

EDUCATION

Ph.D., Economics, University of Chicago

A.B., Economics, University of Chicago (With Special Honors in Economics)

Daniel S. Levy specializes in applications of economics and statistics in the study of corporate structures related to industrial organization/antitrust and labor economics. His work includes detailed analyses and valuations of corporate functions, risks, and assets for international corporations in a wide range of industries.

Dr. Levy's work also includes the study of environmental issues, including comment before the EPA on contingent valuations of power plant emissions damages. In the area of labor economics, he has studied the effects of variations in employment incentives on the productivity and retention of employees, and has investigated the social and economic determinants of investments in human capital. He is expert in numerous statistical and modeling applications, and has modeled complex economic and social factors affecting demographic and market behavior.

Prior to joining Arthur Andersen, Dr. Levy held research and consulting positions at Charles River Associates, The RAND Corporation, Needham-Harper Worldwide Advertising, SPSS Inc. and the University of Chicago Computation Center.
