GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

PERMITS, INSPECTIONS, AND APPROVALS.

Inspection of the retail customer's or applicant's electrical facilities for compliance with electric, safety, and local codes is in the province of governmental authorities. The retail customer or applicant is responsible for obtaining all permits, inspections, and approvals required by governmental authorities. For premises at which governmental approval is required prior to commencement of electric service, the Company does not provide electric service until the retail customer or applicant obtains such approval. Any costs or fees incurred in obtaining permits, inspections, or approvals are the retail customer's or applicant's responsibility, and the retail customer or applicant must secure, without cost to the Company, all necessary governmental permits for the installation and operation of electrical facilities at the premises.

It is the retail customer's or applicant's responsibility to ensure that its electrical facilities meet all applicable state and local regulations, as well as the standards of the National Fire Protection Association contained in the National Electrical Code. For a situation in which a code or regulation applicable to the retail customer's or applicant's facilities is or becomes more stringent than requirements described in these General Terms and Conditions, the more stringent rules apply.

All electrical facilities, wiring, and associated equipment furnished by the retail customer or applicant at the premises, or connecting to the Company's electric distribution facilities, must be suitable for such purposes, and must be furnished, installed, operated, and maintained by the retail customer or applicant at all times in compliance with the requirements of the National Fire Protection Association, applicable governmental authorities and local codes, applicable electric and safety codes, these General Terms and Conditions, and any other applicable Company specifications. However, examination of such facilities, wiring and equipment by the Company is not evidence of compliance with any applicable codes, and the Company assumes no obligation to inspect such facilities, wiring, and equipment to ensure such compliance.

For a situation in which the retail customer or applicant is not the owner of the premises or of any intervening property between such premises and the Company's distribution system facilities, the retail customer or applicant is responsible for obtaining and maintaining from the intervening property owner(s) necessary consent for the installation, operation and maintenance on such premises and on such intervening property of all electrical facilities, wiring, and associated equipment required for the provision of electric service to the retail customer or applicant. For a situation in which the Company must cross adjacent property with electric service conductors in order to provide electric service to the retail customer or applicant, such retail customer or applicant is responsible for securing and maintaining the consent of the owner(s) of the adjacent property. If consent of the intervening property owner is lost and, as a result, relocation of Company facilities becomes necessary, such relocation is provided to the retail customer or applicant in accordance with the provisions for providing nonstandard services and facilities.
